Vocabulary Task 6: Choose the right word to fill in the blanks

Every successful entrepreneur is a (1) determined / doubtful / reward individual who never gives up easily. They work (2) pride/ independently / impatiently /, often taking tough decisions on their own. What keeps them going is their ability to (3) ignore/ primarily/ motivate themselves and their team during challenges. Entrepreneurs know that every risk taken comes with either a lesson or a (4) reward / independently / punishment. They take great (5) motivate/pride / fear in building something from scratch and seeing it grow. Their efforts are (6) primarily / surprising / temporarily focused on solving real problems rather than chasing fame. Those who stay consistent often manage to run their businesses (7) successfully / nervously / unsuccessfully despite all odds.

Vocabulary Task 7:

In today's world, it's not (1) boring / surprising / founding to see how money influences most decisions. The (2) founder / worker / customer of many modern companies is to earn profit above all else. People often (3) hardly / highly / rarely those who can make or manage money well, and some even (4) pride/hire/ blame others just because they are wealthy. It's quite (5) rewarding / disappointing / surprising how often success is measured by the (6) quantity / quality / shape of money a person owns. Yet, if we look closely, people who share values and goals (7) in quantity / in trouble / in common often realize that real wealth lies beyond money.

Vocabulary Task 8:

Fill in the blanks with the correct words from the options given below:

Starting a business is never easy. Entrepreneurs need to (1) raise capital / spend randomly / take risks to turn their ideas into reality. Only those who are willing to (2) avoid change / follow others / take risks and face challenges with courage can move forward. A clear (3) determined / vision / rule helps them stay focused when things get tough. The journey of many business leaders is truly (4) successfully / doubtful / remarkable, filled with lessons and growth. They remain (5) rewarded / determined / confused even when others doubt them, and they continue to (6) motivate / complain / pride their teams to do better. With patience and persistence, they often manage to run their businesses (7) primarily / successfully / carelessly in the long run.

Vocabulary Task 9:

Many Entrepreneurs are often 1 (determined - surprising – primarily) individuals who start ventures to solve problems and pursue opportunities. Many prefer to work 2 (independently - successfully – highly) and manage projects with minimal oversight, relying on self-discipline and initiative. A clear business 3 (vision - identify - reward) helps them attract partners, define goals, and stay focused during setbacks. To grow a company, founders must sometimes 4 (take risks -raise capital - hire) and accept uncertain outcomes; bold choices can lead to innovation and market advantage. Successful leaders also know how to 5 (hire - motivate - reward) talent and assemble a team that complements their skills. While profits can be an important 6 (reward - pride - quantity) many entrepreneurs are driven by challenge, curiosity, and the satisfaction of creating something new. When a start-up is launched and later proves viable, the results can be 7(remarkable - successfully - surprising) and inspire others to follow a similar path. They must identify market needs and pitch to investors to raise capital when growth requires funding. The journey is often surprising and demands stamina; setbacks teach lessons and build pride when achievements are reached. This often benefits society.

Vocabulary Task 10:

Entrepreneurs are often admired for their ability to turn ideas into reality. They are usually very 1 (surprising – determined - found) people who set clear goals and work hard to achieve them. Starting a business is never easy, and success often depends on the willingness to 2 (take risks - reward - raise capital) and learn from failure.

When someone decides to 3 (hire – found - identify) a company, they must first 4 (identify – motivate - raise capital) the right opportunity and plan carefully. In the early stages, they need to 5 (raise capital - take risks – reward) to cover expenses and build a team. It is 6 (surprising – pride – determined) how many successful founders begin with little experience but a strong 7 (quantity – vision - in common) of what they want to create. Their achievements are truly remarkable, and they take great pride in the results.

Vocabulary Task 11:

Choose the correct word (a, b, or c) for each gap (1-7) to complete the text.

Starting a successful business is difficult, but social entrepreneurs face an even tougher challenge: making a profit while doing social good. These individuals are usually 1 (primarily - determined – motivate) by a deep desire to help the community, not 2 (primarily – found – surprising) by financial gain. They must be 3 (identified - determined –highly) and resilient, ready to confront problems where traditional businesses often fail.

Achieving their dual goals requires a 4 (quantity - surprising – remarkable) business plan and the ability to 5 (succeed - raise capital - hire) early on. It is not 6 (rewarding - surprising – independently) to find that their biggest obstacle is securing investment, as many traditional investors are unwilling to 7 (take risks - hire – identify) on ventures that prioritize social impact over maximum financial return. Yet, the sense of personal 8 (reward - vision – pride) they get from their work is often the greatest compensation.

Compound Nouns

A compound noun is a noun made of two or more words that together form one idea or thing.

Usually, the first word tells us what kind of person, place, or thing it is, and the second word is the main noun.

Types of Compound Nouns

Type	Example	Explanation
One word	toothpaste, bedroom, policeman	The two words are joined together.
Hyphenated	mother-in-law, check-in, runner-up	The words are connected by hyphens.
Separated words	bus stop, swimming pool, ice cream	The words stay separate but act as one noun.

How to make Compound Nouns

Combination	Example	Sentence
Noun + Noun	coffee cup	I bought a new coffee cup.
Adjective + Noun	full moon	The full moon shone brightly.
Verb + Noun	swimming pool	The hotel has a large swimming pool.
Noun + Verb	rainfall	The rainfall increased last night.
Verb + Preposition	lookout	The guard kept a lookout for danger.

How to Use Compound Nouns in Sentences

- The bus stop is near the school.
- I need a new toothbrush.
- Let's go to the shopping mall after class.
- The rainfall this year has been heavy.

Grammar Tip

The main word (the last word) tells you what kind of thing it is.

Example: school bus → It's a bus (used for school).

Example: police station → It's a station (for the police).

Activity 1

A. Circle the compound nouns in each sentence.

1. I left my notebook on the kitchen table.
2. The children waited at the bus stop.
3. My father-in-law is a great cook.
4. The classroom was full of noise.
5. She bought a new pair of sunglasses.
6. Don't forget your swimming pool towel.
7. Let's go to the coffee shop after school.

2: Fill in the blanks with the correct words from the options given below:

The job market today has changed greatly, especially with the rise of (1) online / internet / classroom platforms. Many professionals now work for companies located (2) abroad / overseas / locally, without ever meeting their employers in person. This global shift has created a diverse (3) overwork / classroom / workforce with employees from different countries and cultures. However, one major (4) drawback / backpack / benefit is that competition has increased, making it harder to stand out. To stay relevant, workers must constantly (5) degrade / forget / upgrade their skills and adapt to new technologies. The demand for talent is now (6) worldwide / workaholism / seasonal, as businesses look for experts who can contribute from anywhere in the world.

Modal Verbs (Present)

Meaning

Modal verbs can be used to express a wide variety of functions such as asking for and giving permission, talking about ability, probability and possibility, giving advice, or showing obligation and prohibition (see the Useful Links below for further information).

Modal verb	Function	Example

Ought to	Moral duty, advice, or expectation (similar to should but slightly stronger).	You ought to respect your teachers. (moral duty) You ought not to lie to your friends.

Form

Unlike other verbs, modal verbs do not change their form. They do not take the third person singular 's', '-ed' or '-ing' forms.

He can run.

correct

He cans run.

incorrect

We should try.

correct

We shoulded tried.

incorrect

They must go home.

correct

They musting go home.

incorrect

Modal verbs are always followed by the infinitive without 'to'.

I must go.

correct

I must to go.

incorrect

We can stay here.

correct

Reported Speech

Reported speech (also called Indirect Speech) is used to tell what someone said without quoting their exact words.

Example:

Direct Speech: Ali said, "I am tired."

Reported Speech: Ali said that he was tired.

Step 1: Identify the sentence type

Type	What it looks like
Statement	"I am tired." / "We like English."
Question	"Do you like tea?" / "Where are you?"
Command / Request	"Sit down." / "Please help me."

Step 2: Change the structure based on the type

- a) Statements → use said / told + (that) + clause

Direct	Reported
"I am tired."	She said (that) she was tired.
"We have finished."	They explained (that) they had finished.

- b) Yes/No Questions → asked / wanted to know + if / whether + clause (no question) mark)

Direct	Reported
“Do you like pizza?”	She asked if I liked pizza.
“Can you swim?”	He asked whether I could swim.

- c) WH-Questions → asked + WH word (what/where/why/when/how/who) + clause
(no question mark)

Direct	Reported
“Where are you going?”	He asked where I was going.
“What do you want?”	She asked what I wanted.

- d) Commands / Requests → told / asked / advised / warned + object + to + verb (use “not to” for negatives)

Direct	Reported
“Sit down!”	She told me to sit down.
“Please help me.”	He asked me to help him.
“Don’t touch that!”	She warned me not to touch it.

Step 3: Backshift the tense (move one step back)

Only when the reporting verb is past (said/told). If the fact is still true or the reporting verb is present, you can keep the same tense.

Direct Tense	Change To	Example
am / is / are	was / were	“I am happy.” → She said she was happy.
do / does	did	“I do my homework.” → He said he did his homework.
have / has	had	“I have finished.” → She said she had finished.
will	would	“I will go.” → He said he would go.
can	could	“I can swim.” → She said she could swim.
may	might	“I may come.” → He said he might come.
must / have to	had to	“I must leave.” → She said she had to leave.

Step 4: Change pronouns

Direct	Reported
“I love you.”	He said he loved me.
“We are late.”	They said they were late.
“You should study.”	She told me I should study.

Step 5: Change time and place words

Direct Word	Reported Word
today	that day
tomorrow	the next / following day
yesterday	the day before / previous day
now	then
this/these	that/those
here	there
next week	the following week
last month	the previous month
ago	before
tonight	that night

Step 6: Fix punctuation and small details

- Remove quotation marks.
- No question mark in reported questions.
- You may keep or drop “that” after said/told (both are correct).

Step 7: Special reporting verbs (shortcuts)

Verb	Pattern	Example
promise	to + verb	He promised to call me.
remind	object + to + verb	She reminded me to bring my book.
invite	object + to + verb	He invited me to his party.
advise	object + to + verb	The teacher advised us to study.

Practice (Convert to Reported Speech)

1) “I am busy now,” Mary said.

2) “We will travel tomorrow,” Ahmed said.

3) “Do you like coffee?” she asked me.

4) “Where is your book?” the teacher asked Ali.

5) “Don’t be late,” my father said to me.

6) “Please open the window,” she said to Omar.

3. Choosing the Correct answer to complete the sentences :

Modern In today's overpopulated world, people face increasing pressure to balance employment and personal life. Many professionals become 1 (overworked - overdoing - boring) because they spend too many hours at work without proper rest. This pattern of 2(workaholism - overcrowding - background) can harm both physical and mental health. In large cities, 3 (gridlock - livelihood - drawback) and long commutes add to daily exhaustion, leaving employees too tired to enjoy free time.

Another 4(drawback - upgrade - secure) of modern living is that many workers remain constantly connected to their jobs through technology, which can 5 (distract - overestimate - overdo) them from family and friends. While people work hard to secure a stable livelihood, they may forget to relax or take breaks. Experts recommend that companies 6 (upgrade - overwork - overdue) their facilities and schedules to support healthier routines and reduce stress. When organizations promote a more balanced lifestyle, employees become more 7(interested - interesting - overworked) and creative, improving productivity worldwide.

2. Choose one word to fill the maze.

In today's fast-changing work environment, finding a fulfilling career can be both exciting and challenging. Many young professionals are looking for jobs that offer 1 (challenged/challenging/challenger) tasks to keep them motivated. Employers also value candidates with strong problem-solving skills and 2 (team-teamwork/teamwork) experience, as most projects require collaboration.

One growing trend is the rise of flexible, 3 (remote-working/remote-worked/remote-work) positions that allow employees to balance work and personal life. While these jobs can be rewarding, they may also bring 4 (stressful/stressed/stress) situations, such as tight deadlines or virtual meeting overload.

Mentorship programs have become a popular way to help employees feel supported and 5 (motivating/motivated/motive) in their roles. Additionally, attending 6 (career-development/career-developing/career-developed) workshops can boost skills and confidence. Choosing a workplace with a healthy, 7 (work-life-balanced/work-life-balance/work-lifed) culture is increasingly important for long-term success.

For each gap, choose the most appropriate option.

The world of work is undergoing a significant and 1. _____ (interest) transition. Fueled by rapid technological change, the traditional career path is being replaced by a more fluid model that demands constant adaptation. Experts agree that the jobs of the future will require 2. _____ (solve) and 3. _____ (think) skills, rather than routine, repetitive tasks. This shift can leave many job seekers feeling 4. _____ (frighten) or even paralyzed by uncertainty. However, embracing lifelong learning is key to success. Companies are increasingly seeking candidates with a 5. _____ (grow) mindset who are not 6. _____ (interest) in just one narrow field. The rise of the 7. _____ (freelance) is also reshaping the employment landscape, offering flexibility but requiring workers to be proactive in managing their personal brand and professional development. Staying informed and continuously upgrading your skills is the best way to secure your place in this new environment.
