Reading Test: Work & Career

Reading Passage 1: Finding the Right Fit

Emma had always been an introvert. She enjoyed quiet mornings, detailed planning, and staying focused on her own tasks. After university, she struggled to find a career that suited her personality. Her first job involved long shifts in a busy retail store, where she had to speak with dozens of customers daily. It was a stressful environment and left her feeling drained.

One day, Emma took a career assessment test and discovered that her natural strengths were in planning and analysis. She realized that her personality fit better with a more independent job. She began searching for roles with flexible schedules, lighter workloads, and tasks that allowed deep concentration. Eventually, she found a position as a research assistant. The job didn't pay much at first, but it felt rewarding. Over time, she built her career profile, developed new soft skills, and even helped design a five-year plan for the department she worked in.

Now, Emma looks back and feels proud. She says the job wasn't just a role—it was her vocation.

Questions for Passage 1

1. What kind of personality does Emma have?
 - a) Extrovert
 - b) Judging
 - c) Introvert
 - d) Feeling
2. Why did Emma leave her first job in retail?

- a) It didn't pay well
 - b) It was stressful and didn't suit her personality
 - c) She had to work alone
 - d) She wanted to work longer hours
3. What made Emma feel her new job was rewarding?
- a) It had high pay
 - b) She had many perks
 - c) She could work from home
 - d) It matched her skills and personality

Reading Passage 2: Planning for Success

Achieving career success doesn't happen overnight. It starts with setting clear SMART goals—Specific, Measurable, Achievable, Relevant, and Time-bound. For example, if your long-term goal is to become a manager, you might start by identifying short-term steps like completing a training course or improving your soft skills such as leadership and communication.

A good career path also includes a mix of education and experience. Many successful professionals create a five-year plan that outlines their aspirations and the actions needed to reach them. During this journey, challenges are inevitable. Some people feel overwhelmed, while others stay ambitious and focus on tangible results—like getting a promotion or earning a certificate.

At every stage, it's important to reflect on what motivates you. Whether your goal is job satisfaction, better pay, or a stronger social life, knowing what you value can guide your decisions.

Questions for Passage 2

4. What is the purpose of SMART goals?
 - a) To describe your work routine
 - b) To create a five-year plan for your social life
 - c) To help you set clear and achievable goals
 - d) To choose between jobs
5. What is a tangible result of career progress?
 - a) A peaceful work environment
 - b) A better relationship with your boss
 - c) A feeling of motivation
 - d) A certificate or promotion

6. According to the passage, what helps people stay focused during challenges?
- a) A strong social life
 - b) Being overwhelmed
 - c) Staying ambitious and having goals
 - d) Avoiding short-term goals

Model Answers

Passage 1: Finding the Right Fit

1. c) Introvert
2. b) It was stressful and didn't suit her personality

5. d) A certificate or promotion
6. c) Staying ambitious and having goals

Writing Exam: Work & Career

Part 1: Opinion Question

What is your opinion about having a job with a high salary but high stress, versus a job with lower pay but more satisfaction? Write at least two full sentences.

Part 2: Essay Plan

Write a plan for the essay prompt below. Please note—this is a plan only, not a full essay.

Write about what makes a good career.

Include ideas about:

- the importance of work–life balance
- what kind of personality suits different

jobs

- the role of goals and planning in career success

Use bullet points or a paragraph to organise your ideas.

Part 3: Essay (at least 120 words)

Write about what makes a good career.

Include ideas about:

- the importance of work–life balance
- what kind of personality suits different jobs
- the role of goals and planning in career success

Write your answer in full paragraphs.

Blank lined paper with a watermark logo in the center. The logo is a stylized 'A' with a red heart and a green square, surrounded by the text 'Almanahi.com' and '2025' and '2024'.

Part 4: Inference and Justification – “A Career for Life”

Many people dream of finding the perfect career. For some, this means earning a high salary or getting a job with amazing perks, like travel or free meals. For others, a good job is one that matches their personality. For example, an extrovert might enjoy working in sales, while an introvert might prefer a job in research or writing. Understanding your personality traits can help you find the right path.

A career should also offer work-life balance. Too much stress or an unrealistic workload can affect your health and your social life. That’s why many people now choose jobs that are more rewarding than just high-paying.

Finally, people who set clear career goals and make a strong five-year plan often succeed. They may start with short-term goals, like internships or certificates, and move toward long-term success.

Part 5: Inference and Justification

Inference Question

According to the passage, does the writer believe money is the most important part of a good career?

Write your answer below. Use full sentences.

Justification Question

Why is your answer to the inference question the best answer?

Use evidence from the text to support your answer.

Model Answers

Part 1: Opinion

I believe that a job with lower pay but more satisfaction is better. If you are happy at work, you can enjoy your life and avoid stress.

Part 2: Essay Plan

- Work–life balance: Helps people stay healthy and happy
- Personality types: Introverts prefer quiet jobs; extroverts enjoy social jobs
- Goals and planning: SMART goals and five-year plans help people stay focused and grow in their careers

Part 3: Essay

A good career is not just about money; it's about finding a job that fits your life and your personality. One important part of a successful career is work–life balance. If people work too much or face a lot of stress, they can become tired and unhappy. It is better to have time for family, friends, and hobbies.

Another thing to think about is personality. Different people are good at different kinds of jobs. For example, someone who is an introvert might do well in a quiet job like writing or research, while an extrovert might enjoy working with people in sales or teaching.

Finally, career goals are important. People who make short-term and long-term goals, like a five-year plan, usually succeed more. They know what they want and work hard to get there. In conclusion, a good career is one that matches your life, your personality, and your goals.

Part 5: Inference and Justification

Inference Answer:

No, the writer does not believe that money is the most important part of a good career.

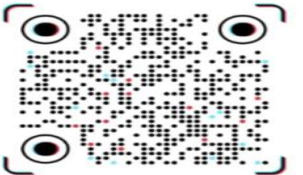

Justification Answer:

The text says that many people now choose jobs that are “more rewarding than just

T3-2024-2025-G12G-11Adv-U9

high-paying,” which shows that job satisfaction and personal fit are more important than salary.
