1. Past continuous

Past continuous is used to talk about an action or event in the past that was happening at a particular time in the past. For example,

I was sleeping between 2pm and 4pm yesterday afternoon.

Form

The past continuous is formed using the subject + was/were + verb - ing.

Positive

subject + was/were	verb-ing
I was	sleeping
You were	talking
He was	running
She was	eating
It was	working
We were	dancing
You were	laughing
They were	coughing

Negative

was/were + not	verb-ing
I wasn't	sleeping
You weren't	talking
He wasn't	running
She wasn't	eating
It wasn't	working
We weren't	dancing
You weren't	laughing
They weren't	coughing

Interrogative (positive)

was/were + subject	verb-ing
Was I	sleeping?
Were you	talking?
Was he	running?
Was she	eating?
Was it	working?
Were we	dancing?
Were you	laughing?
Were they	coughing?

Interrogative (negative)

was/were + not + subject	Verb-ing
Wasn't I	sleeping?
Weren't you	talking?
Wasn't he	running?
Wasn't she	eating?
Wasn't it	working?
Weren't we	dancing?
Weren't you	laughing?
Weren't they	coughing?

2. Relative Clause

Meaning

A defining relative clause gives specific or essential information about the person, place, or thing we are talking about. We need this information to know or understand what is being talked about.

Use a relative pronoun, such as 'who', 'which', 'that', 'where', 'when', or 'whose' to add information that refers to and defines what we are talking about.

(People)	I spoke to the man who/that* had a red tie.
(Places)	Lincoln is the city where I went to university.
(Things)	We bought the car which/that* has the most room in the back.
(Time)	It was November when I got promoted.
(Possession)	That is the man whose car you saw.

3. Past Time using to be

Meaning

Past simple is used to describe actions that started and finished in the past.

Form

Positive	Question	Negative
I worked.	Did I work?	I did not work.
You worked.	Did you work?	You did not work.
He worked.	Did he work?	He did not work.
She worked.	Did she work?	She did not work.
It worked.	Did it work?	It did not work.
We worked.	Did we work?	We did not work.
You worked.	Did you work?	You did not work.
They worked.	Did they work?	They did not work.

Notice when we use did, the verb is in the present form.

Did you worked? Incorrect

Did you work? Correct

For negative sentences, we can contract do not/does not.

I didn't work.

There are no rules for irregular verbs, they just need to be learned and remembered. For example:

Present	Past
do	did
go	went
see	saw
have	had
get	got
speak	spoke
eat	ate
drink	drank

meet	met
-------------	------------

Verb “to be”:

Positive	Questions	Negative
I was a student.	Was I asleep?	I was not a student.
You were a student.	Were you asleep?	You were not a student.
He/she was a student.	Was he/she asleep?	He/she was not a student.
It was hot yesterday.	Was it hot yesterday?	It was not a book.
We were students.	Were we asleep?	We were not students.
You were students.	Were you asleep?	You were not students.
They were students.	Were they asleep?	They were not students.

Remember, we can use contractions for negative sentences. For example:

She wasn't a student.

They weren't students.

3. Quantifiers

Meaning

Quantifiers show an amount or quantity:

some apples; many people; a lot of money; a few students

Form

Quantifiers can be used with countable and uncountable nouns. They come before the noun.

With countable nouns
many	There aren't many people here.
a few *	I have a few ideas.
few/very few 	I have few ideas.
several	There are several students in the class.
a large/great number of	A large number of students eat lunch at school.

* 'a few' means there is not a lot of something, but there is enough.

 'few/very few' mean there is not enough of something.

With uncountable nouns
much	Do you have much money?
a little *	He has a little food in the fridge.
little/very little 	He has little food in the fridge.
a bit of	I have a bit of water.
a great deal of	We have a great deal of time.
a large amount of	A large amount of plastic can be recycled.

* 'a little' means there is not a lot of something, but there is enough.

 'little/very little' mean there is not enough of something.

With both countable and uncountable nouns
some	I bought some flowers. / I've got some work to do.
any	I didn't buy any flowers. / Do you have any work to do?
a lot of/lots of	She's got a lot of friends. / I have lots of time.
plenty of	We have plenty of ideas. / We've got plenty of time.
enough	Are there enough chairs? / We have enough money.

We use both some and any in questions. We use some to talk about things that we know or think exists and when we offer or ask for things:

We use any in questions when we do not know if the thing exists:

Have you got any time to help me?	I don't know if you have time, you look busy.
Do you have any children?	Perhaps it's the first time you have met this person.

5. Adverbial Linkers

Meaning

An adverbial linker is a word or phrase that connects ideas, usually in two sentences.

I finished my work. Therefore, I went home.
I always start work early. However, my friend usually starts work late.

Uses/Functions

To contrast and compare two ideas
I work long hours.	However, On the other hand, Nevertheless, Conversely,	I love my job.

To show the cause and effect between two ideas.
The job was important.	Therefore, As a result, Consequently, So, That's why	we worked late.

To add a point or an idea.
We can't afford a new car.	Furthermore, Moreover, In addition, Additionally, Besides, What's more	we don't need one at the moment.

6. Question Tag

Meaning

We use question tags in spoken language to turn statements into questions especially when we want to check something is true or invite people to agree with us:

*You're from London, aren't you?

*He wasn't there, was he?

Form

Which verb do we use in the tag? If there is an auxiliary, a modal verb or the verb 'to be' in the main clause, we use that in the question tag:

*She's going to the cinema, isn't she?

auxiliary

*We haven't seen him for ages, have we?

auxiliary

*He should work harder, shouldn't he?

modal verb

*The workers can't start earlier, can they?

modal verb

*I'm next, aren't I? **

to be

*It isn't very hot today, is it?

to be

For verbs in the present simple and past simple, we use the correct form of 'do':

*I think we should leave now, don't you?

*She doesn't know the answer, does she?

*He told you not to do that, didn't he?

*I didn't invite him, did I?

In informal situations we can use ‘right’ or ‘yeah’ as a question tag:

You’re at university, right?

You don’t like fish, yeah?

It’s really hot, right?
