The Power of Stories

A long time ago, people used stories to explain the world. Every culture has a hero who does brave things. In some stories, the character must travel a long path to find a special plant that helps their father. These stories often start with "once upon a time" and end with the characters living happily ever after. Today, we still read these stories to learn about different places. Sometimes the hero only has half of a map and must use their brain to find the way. Stories are important because they bring people together and teach us how to be kind and brave.

What is the main idea of the text?

- A) How to plant a garden.
- B) Why stories are important
- C) How to draw a map.

Part 2B Reading (20 marks)

Cooking with friends

Yesterday, some people came to my house to cook. First, we looked at the recipe to see the ingredients. We had to chop the vegetables and then add them to the pot. Even though it was a lot of work, we had fun. My friend helped me mix the flour while I started to stir the soup. Then, we had to pour some water and let it boil. We thought the food smelled delicious! We changed our clothes before sitting down to eat the whole meal together. Cooking with friends is a great way to spend time. Next time, we want to try a new recipe with different ingredients like spices and rice.

What was the first thing they did?

- A) Chop vegetables
- B) Look at the recipe
- C) Pour water

What did the friend help with?

- A) Boiling water
- B) Mixing flour
- C) Changing clothes
