Electricity is one of the most important inventions in history. It allows machines, computers, and phones to work every day. Before electricity, people used candles and oil lamps for light. Today, electricity powers homes, schools, and hospitals. Scientists studied electricity for many years before people could use it safely. Without electricity, modern life would be difficult and slow. Many inventions depend on electricity to function properly. We use electricity to cook food, charge devices, and travel by train. Electricity has changed the world and continues to improve the way people live and work everywhere.

1	Electricity helps machines to: A. Sleep B. Work C. Break
2	Before electricity, people used: A. Phones B. Candles C. Computers

5	The main idea of the text is A. How electricity is important B. Inventions in the past C. Inventions now

Long ago, people used simple machines to complete daily tasks. Farmers used animals and wooden tools to carry heavy loads. Builders made houses using basic hand tools. These machines were useful but slow. People worked harder and spent more time finishing tasks. There were no robots or electric machines. Transportation was also slower because people traveled by horse or wagon. Although life was simple, people were creative and hardworking. Early machines helped humans survive and build communities. Over time, technology improved, and machines became stronger and faster than before.

1	Farmers used: A. Robots B. Animals C. Rockets
2	Old machines were: A. Fast B. Electric C. Slow

3	Builders used: A. Hand tools B. Computers C. Phones
4	Transportation was: A. Faster B. Slower C. Flying
5	The main idea of the text is A. Transportation in the past B. The simple life and machines in the past C. Builders in the past

Today, machines are faster and more powerful than ever before. Tractors help farmers grow food quickly. Robots assist doctors in hospitals and work in factories. Cars, buses, and trains allow people to travel long distances safely. Modern machines use electricity or fuel to operate. Engineers design machines carefully to make work easier and safer. Technology continues to improve every year. However, people must use machines responsibly. Machines save time and energy, but they need proper care and maintenance. Modern technology has changed the way people live, work, and communicate around the world.

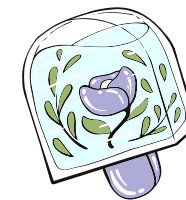

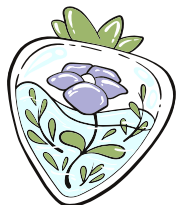

1	Tractors help farmers: A. Swim B. Grow food C. Fly
2	Robots assist doctors in: A. Hospitals B. Forests C. Rivers

3	Modern machines use electricity or: A. Sand B. Fuel C. Water
