Nocturnal animals are animals that are active at night.

They sleep in the daytime and wake up when it gets dark.

Many nocturnal animals, like bats and owls, fly to find food.

Others, like foxes, walk or move quietly to catch their prey.

In the desert, some animals come out only when it is cooler.

On hot nights, bats can be seen flying across the sky.

Being active at night helps these animals stay safe from the heat and from predators.
