2 - Reading Comprehension (5 marks)

The first smart phone was introduced by IBM at the beginning of 1990s. This phone had a calendar, address book, clock, calculator, notebook, email, and a few games. It had a touch display. It was only black and white. It was expensive and heavy. It was only ten years later when Steve Jobs introduced iPhone and smart phones became popular.

Nowadays the smart phones are thin and light. They can do a lot of things.

You can use it to chat with your friends and listen to music. It can be connected to the internet. You can play games with it. You can send emails and messages with it. I think smart phone is the most useful gadget.
