Reading

- 1 Read what some people said about the Paralympics and about the moment when Alan Oliveira broke the T44 200 metres world record at the 2012 London Olympics. How do they feel?

They feel happy; excited; enthusiastic; inspired

Everything about the Paralympics is brilliant. The athletes are amazing. When Alan Oliveira won, everyone in the stadium cheered. Lots of people jumped up from their seats and a few were in tears.

Is there anyone who wasn't inspired by what they saw?

The sound in the stadium was incredible. I've never heard anything like it.

These athletes are an inspiration. Nothing stops them. They make you think no-one should ever give up.

The Paralympics are more exciting than the Olympics. Anyone who has seen the blade runners will tell you that.

Everyone is going to be talking about it at school. Everybody is going to be saying, 'We were there, we saw him break the world record!'

Para-athlete blade runner Alan Oliveira

Did you know?

The first Paralympics (Olympic Games for disabled people) took place in Rome in 1960. There were about 400 athletes from 23 countries. The word 'Paralympics' comes from the Greek para meaning 'beside' plus 'Olympics'. Can you name a paralympic sport?
