Greetings

Greetings are a way to say hello and show kindness. People use greetings every day when they meet others. A smile, a wave, or saying “hi” are all simple greetings. In different countries, people greet in different ways. Some shake hands, some bow, and some hug. Greetings help us make friends and feel welcome. They are important because they show respect and care. When we greet someone, we start a good conversation. Saying “good morning” or “how are you?” makes people happy. Greetings are small words, but they have a big meaning. So always greet others with a smile and kind words.
