Test 1: Food Festivals and Future Plans

Part 1: Reading Comprehension

Read the text and choose the best answer.

Sharjah International Food Festival

The Sharjah International Food Festival is an annual event that brings people together to try food from all over the world. This year, the festival features over 50 different countries and is located at York University. It starts at 2:00 p.m., and a single ticket costs 60 AED. Visitors can see magic shows, watch traditional dances, and taste unusual foods they may have never seen before.

Fahad is planning to go this Friday with his friends, Ali and Jassim. They have already bought three tickets and are excited about the event. Fahad is particularly interested in the "International Street Food" section, where he can try unique dishes. To keep a record of his experiences, Ali plans to write about the different tastes in his new diary. They are meeting at 8:00 a.m. to prepare for their busy day ahead. Test 2: Children's Festivals and Making DecisionsPart 1: Reading Comprehension

Read the text and choose the best answer.

Kodomo no Hi: Children's Day in Japan

Children's Day, known as Kodomo no Hi, is a special festival celebrated in Japan. The main purpose of this day is to celebrate children and their happiness. During this event, parents and teachers work together to plan activities that make children feel special. One of the most famous symbols of this festival is the carp-shaped flag. These colorful flags are flown outside houses to represent strength and success for the children.

Food also plays a very important role in the celebration. Families often eat special rice cakes wrapped in oak leaves. Children also receive small gifts from their parents as a way to thank them for being part of the family. In schools, students might engage in face-painting activities using brushes, cotton, and glitters. It is a day full of joy where everyone takes the time to honor the younger generation. Whether it is through flying flags or sharing a meal, the focus is always on the well-being of the children.
