Is it the right career for me?

I always knew I wanted to be a pilot so as soon as I finished school I started applying to different airlines to join their training courses. I was offered an interview with two different companies. Unfortunately, I was nervous and did badly in the first one! Luckily, I did much better the next time and the company accepted me. There was a lot to learn on the course and it was more stressful than I expected, but I enjoyed it. After years of training and studying, I'm now qualified as a professional pilot and the job has lots of advantages. The most obvious of these is travelling all over the world. I've been to hundreds of interesting places, and I often stay in some of them for a couple of days between flights. In spite of that, though, there are some negatives. If I'm in an amazing place, there's no one to share it with. Also, if I go to the same place regularly, it gets boring. My job affects my social life, too. My working days aren't fixed, which means I'm often free during the week when my friends or family are busy at college or work. That's no fun because I have to do stuff on my own! It's not all bad, though, because it does mean that I have the opportunity to develop new interests. Surprisingly, the lack of routine can have unexpected consequences. It means I have to make a special effort to take care of myself. That's why I eat healthy food and do exercise like running. Organizing that can be difficult when I'm travelling so I always make sure any hotel I stay in has a pool or gym. Do I regret anything? I wish I had more qualifications that are not connected with flying. They would give me opportunities for a new career when I stop flying. Because of that I'm now taking an online business course in my free time but it's hard to fit everything in. I do know I'm lucky, though, and I have a dream job!

1. What is the main idea of the text?

- A) Qualifications needed to be a pilot.
- B) A pilot 's career and social life.
- C) Places that pilots can visit

2. According to the passage, the writer

- A) got a job as a pilot easily.
- B) was not interested to be a pilot in the beginning.
- C) found it difficult to get a job as a pilot.

3. Why couldn't the writer join the training course in the beginning?

- A) He didn't have the required qualifications for the course.
- B) He didn't do well in an interview.
- C) There were no empty places for him in the course.

4. How did the writer find the course after he joined it?

- A) difficult, but interesting
- B) Easy and relaxing
- C) Useless and a waste of time

5. The writer thinks that visiting places more than once

- A) makes him feel bored.
- B) lets him know more about it.
- C) enables him to make more friends.

6. Why does the writer spend little time with his family and friends?

- A) Because he likes to be alone most of the time.
- B) Because they have different work schedules.
- C) Because he likes to go out when he is free.

7. Why does the writer think that being alone can be an advantage?

- A) He can learn new things
- B) He likes to stay in a quiet place.
- C) He can relax and get enough sleep.

8. What does the writer make sure the hotel where he stays has when he is travelling?

- A) Healthy food
- B) Nice view
- C) A pool or a gym

9. What does the writer like to do when he retires from the job of a pilot?

- A) Spend more time with his family.
- B) Start a new career.
- C) Take online business course

10. What does the writer do in his free time now?

- A) Hang out with his friends.
- B) Study online.
- C) Cook his own meals

The Rise of Electric Cars: A Greener Future

In recent years, the transport industry has witnessed a significant shift towards sustainable and eco-friendly transportation, with the emerging of electric cars. Electric cars, also known as electric vehicles (EVs), have become more popular due to their environmental benefits, technological advancements, and the promise of a cleaner, greener future. One of the primary advantages of electric cars is their positive impact on the environment. Unlike traditional petrol-powered vehicles that emit harmful pollutants such as sulfur oxide and carbon dioxide, electric cars produce zero carbon emissions. This reduction in air pollution contributes to improved air quality, reducing the harmful effects on both human health and the planet. By changing to electric cars, we can play a crucial role in facing climate change and working towards a more sustainable future. The development of high-capacity batteries has significantly increased the efficiency of electric vehicles, allowing them to cover longer distances on a single charge. Moreover, with the increasing number of charging points everywhere, electric car users can now recharge their vehicles conveniently, making long distances more comfortable and reducing their anxiety that cars might stop in the middle of their journeys. The cost of electric cars, once considered a barrier to having an electric car, is gradually decreasing as governments and car manufacturers are offering initiatives to encourage consumers to make the switch to electric vehicles. Additionally, the lower operating costs of electric cars, including reduced maintenance and fuel expenses, make them an attractive and economical option in the long run. As the demand for electric vehicles grows, manufacturers are investing heavily in research and development to enhance battery technology, improve efficiency, and create modern designs. This not only benefits the environment but also helps economic growth and creating more jobs in the green technology sector.

1. Nowadays, people turn to drive electric cars because they arecars.

- A. expensive
- B. eco-friendly
- C. brand new

2. Electric vehicles have become more popular because they are..

- A. easy to drive
- B. faster than traditional cars.
- C. unharmed to the environment

3. According to the text , traditional petrol-powered cars

- A. produce harmful gases in the atmosphere.
- B. easier to be maintained than electric cars.
- C. last longer than electric cars.

4. Electric cars positively affect

- A. the human health
- B. the environment
- C. Both A and B

5. What is the environmental problem that EVs can solve?

- A. Loss of habitat
- B. Land pollution
- C. Climate change

6. The development ofhelped the EVs be more efficient.

- A. new types of fuel
- B. car designs and decreased prices
- C. high-capacity batteries and charging points

7. The text implies that the prices of the electric cars

- A. are increasing
- B. are decreasing
- C. do not change

8. There is a drop in the prices of the EVs because

- A. driving EVs is more difficult than driving traditional cars.
- B. EVs break down more frequently
- C. the government and car makers are helping people buy them.

9. Car makers are working hard to improve EVs by

- A. creating more efficient types of fuel
- B. creating more colors
- C. developing the capacity of the car batteries

10. EVs industry

- A. makes people save money
- B. creates more jobs for people
- C. helps people learn how to drive

Envisioning My Future Career

As I think about my future career, I realize that it is essential to choose a path that not only aligns with my interests but also contributes positively to society. I am particularly drawn to careers in healthcare, where I can make a difference in people's lives. My interest in biology and my passion for helping others lead me to consider becoming a nurse or a doctor. However, I also recognize the importance of work-life balance and job satisfaction. While a career in healthcare is rewarding, it can also be demanding and stressful. Therefore, I have also explored options in education, where I can inspire and empower students. Becoming a teacher would allow me to share my love for learning and encourage the next generation to pursue their dreams. To make an informed decision, I plan to research both fields further. I will look into the educational requirements, job prospects, and daily responsibilities of each career. Additionally, I hope to gain firsthand experience through internships or volunteer opportunities, which will provide me with valuable insights into the realities of these professions. Ultimately, I understand that choosing a career is a significant decision, and it is important to consider my strengths, interests, and values. I am excited about the journey ahead and the possibilities that await me in my future career.

Sport

Sport plays a crucial role in the physical and mental development of young people. Engaging in sports can improve fitness levels, build teamwork skills, and enhance self-discipline. Young athletes learn the importance of setting goals and working hard to achieve them, which can translate into other areas of their lives, such as academics and personal growth. Furthermore, sports can provide a sense of community and belonging, encouraging students to connect with their peers. For many, being part of a team fosters friendships that can last a lifetime. The camaraderie experienced during practices and competitions helps students develop social skills and learn how to communicate effectively with others. In high school, students often have the opportunity to participate in various sports, from traditional team sports like basketball and soccer to individual sports like swimming and tennis. These activities not only contribute to physical health but also teach valuable life lessons such as perseverance, respect for opponents, and handling both victory and defeat with grace. Additionally, excelling in sports can open doors to scholarships and future athletic careers. Many colleges and universities offer athletic scholarships to talented athletes, which can significantly reduce the cost of higher education. This possibility encourages students to dedicate time and effort to their training and performance. Overall, the benefits of participating in sports extend beyond the playing field. They can positively impact students' academic performance, mental health, and social interactions, making sports an essential component of a well-rounded education.

Questions:

1. What is one benefit of participating in sports mentioned in the passage?

- A) Increased academic performance
- B) Improved fitness levels

- D) Greater financial independence

- 2. According to the passage, how can sports influence teamwork skills?
- A) By encouraging competition among players
 - B) By promoting individual achievements
 - C) By requiring collaboration to succeed
 - D) By minimizing interaction with peers
- 3. What opportunity might high school sports provide for students?
- A) Access to free gym memberships
 - B) Scholarships and future athletic careers
 - C) A break from academic responsibilities
 - D) Strict training regimens without social interaction
- 4. What sense does the passage suggest sports can foster among students?
- A) Isolation
 - B) Competition
 - C) Community and belonging
 - D) Discontent
- 5. How do sports contribute to personal growth, according to the passage?
- A) By focusing solely on physical fitness
 - B) By encouraging students to develop life skills like perseverance
 - C) By providing opportunities for social media exposure
 - D) By offering limited interaction with peers
