النموذج الثاني

Football Uniforms

Before 1870, football players wore their own clothes, making it hard to tell which team they were on. Then, they started wearing wool uniforms with leather boots.

English football players wearing uniforms, 1888

Nowadays, football uniforms are made of light fabric, with shorter shorts and soft leather shoes. Each team has its own colors, like the Brazilian team's bright yellow and green shirts, blue shorts, and white socks. These modern materials help players stay cool and move more freely during a game.

In the future, sports uniforms will change with the help of technology. After all, players need uniforms that are both practical and fashionable at the same time!
