Part III: Reading Comprehension

The growth of the Influencer Marketing industry has been steady for the last several years and is expected to continue. It focuses on identifying individuals with influence over potential buyers and organizing marketing activities around these influencers. This influencer can be a friend or family member, or a so-called value-added influencer, such as a celebrity, journalist, or industry expert.

The number of brand-sponsored influencer posts on social media is also expected to double by 2020.
