Reading Comprehension

Read the following passage then answer the questions:

Technology surrounds daily life and helps people work, study, and communicate more easily. Many cities encourage people to use public transport because it reduces traffic on busy roads and lowers pollution in the air. At home, smart meters help families monitor electricity use and save energy. A solar panel is a useful power source since it uses energy from the sun to produce clean electricity and protect the environment. Scientists also promote eco-friendly travel such as electric cars and encourage people to save water and natural resources. Upgrading machines improves efficiency, and protecting online privacy is essential. If we fail to protect personal privacy, information can be stolen or misused. Responsible technology use supports a sustainable and healthy future

Read the following passage then answer the questions:

Feelings shape our daily lives, and understanding emotions is important for strong mental health. A psychologist helps people who are sad by studying the human mind and guiding them to recognize and manage their emotions. Showing empathy allows people to understand their friends better and build trusting relationships. We should also admit mistakes because learning from them helps us grow. Social media may present a false reality since influencers often share edited and perfect images instead of everyday life. Comparing ourselves to others or feeling school stress can weaken confidence. Therefore, relaxing, believing in personal value, and communicating honestly are important. Kindness and open discussion support emotional well-being and help create healthier relationships and happier communities.

Choose the correct answer from ( a, b, c or d )

1- Having ..... allows you to understand the feelings of your friends.

- a) wealth                      b) empathy                      c) reality                      d) pressure

2- You should ..... your mistakes and try to learn from them.

Read the following passage then answer the questions:

A professional athlete trains for many hours each day and needs dedication, proper nutrition, and teamwork to succeed. Having a clear and good strategy is important because it allows athletes to plan smart moves and compete effectively against their opponents. Coaches guide teams, teach skills, and help improve performance, while regular stretching prevents injuries. Exercise not only strengthens the body but also boosts mood and builds confidence. When injuries happen, athletes recover carefully with medical support and patience. Professional sports focus on competition and earning income, whereas recreational sports are played mainly for fun and enjoyment. Through persistence and hard work, athletes reach their goals, inspire others, and demonstrate how sports can unite people from different cultures around the world.

Choose the correct answer from ( a, b, c or d )

1-A professional ..... must practice for many hours every day.

Read the following passage then answer the questions:

Communities become stronger when people volunteer and support one another in daily life. Giving time to a charity and treating it as a shared duty helps neighbors who are facing difficulties. Even a small act of kindness, such as helping an elderly person with shopping or household tasks, allows them to live more independently. During disasters, unity is essential because residents must cooperate to repair damage and keep everyone safe. Protecting parks, caring for animals, and respecting older generations build trust among community members. Schools also play an important role by educating children to become kind and responsible leaders. When people cooperate and treat others fairly, the community grows into a happy, safe, and connected place.

Choose the correct answer from ( a, b, c or d )

1-Giving your time to a ..... helps people who are in need.

- a) package            b) charity            c) disaster            d) generation

2-School's role is ..... the children to become responsible.
