Read the text. Then for each item, shade in the bubble (☐) next to the correct option.

Dear Mr. Anwar,

I am writing this email to share with you some information about Sulawesi island, Indonesia, where I am spending the mid-term holiday with my father. He owns a furniture factory and often gets wood from here.

As you mentioned, we will be learning about islands in Geography, so while I'm staying here I have decided to do a little research about this island and present it to my classmates. My presentation will focus on tourism and how it has affected Sulawesi.

By researching, and discussing the topic with my father and local people, I have discovered that tourism used to be very limited on Sulawesi. Only a few international divers visited the island because of its beautiful coral reefs, while mountain climbers wanted to experience its unique mountains and learn about its mysterious caves. Generally, they stayed in local people's homes, or in small family-run hotels. Even though these hotels were not very luxurious, they provided visitors with a cultural experience.

In 1986, a British documentary film was made about Sulawesi's beautiful landmark beaches, mountains and volcanoes. It was televised in several European countries. After that, there was rapid growth in tourism-mostly tourists from France and Germany. Soon, the number of package holiday makers increased. There was a big demand for better accommodation, so the Indonesian government constructed many large hotels along the coastline which in my opinion destroyed Sulawesi beautiful nature. Currently, most of these hotels offer all-inclusive package deals that include accommodation, meals, transportation and spas, but trips are excluded. Imagine, my father had to buy our airline tickets a year ago because Sulawesi has become so popular.

In my opinion, these large hotels have affected the locals' hotels and many have closed down. However, these new hotels have reduced unemployment, increase the island's income and raised living standards. Although, Sulawesi island was always famous for its traditional industries such as fishing, agriculture, boat building and net weaving. Locals have opened many tourism related businesses such as boutiques and restaurants.

Last night, I attended a local festival with my father. Unfortunately, the show did not present the people's authentic culture and traditions, and this was disappointing. However, I took some interesting photos which I will include in my presentation.

Looking forward to seeing you.

Yours,

Faisal

Famous Cruise Ships

Cruise tourism has grown from 3.8 million passengers in 1990 to 25.4 million in 2019. Therefore, the number of cruise companies has expanded, and there is a demand for cruise lines to find new, attractive tourist destinations and to provide passengers with high quality services. Themed-cruises, such as family cruises, singles' cruises and golf cruises, are available for travellers seeking a unique kind of fun and relaxing holiday. They are an all-in-one vacation where people can visit multiple destinations without packing and unpacking their luggage. Moreover, the food offered is delicious as the ships hire the best chefs and cooks. Finally, this is a good choice for family holiday. According to travel magazines, the cruise ships 'Holland America', 'Symphony of the Sea' and 'Hebridean Sky' received the service awards in 2018.

'Holland America' earned an impressive 24 gold and silver Magellan Awards in 2018. Seventeen gold awards were achieved in the categories of premium ship, restaurant design and education programmes. Seven silver awards were earned in the categories of marketing and best tour destinations. One of these is to Alaska, where 'Holland America' has sailed for over seventy years. On this journey, guests experience Alaska's spectacular coast, unique frozen mountains and exotic wildlife. The trip to Alaska ranges from seven to twenty-one days including visits to five ports. The Alaskan trip is designed for adults and older children. Prices start from $700 for a seven-day trip for one person. The ship has educational programmes such as cooking, computer and music lessons.

'Symphony of the Sea', is the second largest ship in the world. It won an award because of the facilities and services it offers families such as big fun park, water park, spa, 4D cinema, seafood restaurant, theatre and sports area. According to the travel magazine Cruise Sensors, family feedback indicates that the best part of the ship is big rooms with balconies. Children's rooms are equipped with various electronic games. Wi-Fi is provided, but is not free of charge. Moreover, this cruise ship has a well-trained team who takes care of passengers with special needs. Babysitters look after children if their parents are busy. Unfortunately, most families cannot afford this tour as a seven-day trip costs around $1000 per person.
