Ali and Omar are best friends. They are very excited because today is not a normal school day. Their teacher, Mr Salem, is taking the whole class on an entertainment tour to the planetarium. Everyone is talking about the stars, the planets, and the amazing space shows they are going to see. "First, we're going to the main dome," says Mr Salem. "We're meeting our guide at nine o'clock, so stay together." Omar smiles and tells Ali, "I've wanted to visit the planetarium for months!" He also brings his camera to take photos. When they arrive, the guide shows them inside. The lights go down, and suddenly the huge dome is full of stars and galaxies. The children look up in silence. Next, the guide explains how astronauts travel in space. Omar claps and says, "This is amazing!" Later, the boys watch a short 3D film about the solar system. They take photos in the exhibition hall and buy postcards from the gift shop. Before leaving, they see a model of a rocket, and everyone takes pictures in front of it. At four o'clock, the class catches the bus back to school. On the bus, Omar looks for his camera but cannot find it. He feels worried. Ali smiles and says, "Don't worry! We can visit the planetarium again with our parents tomorrow and find it."

2. Who was their teacher? _____
3. What did the children see inside the dome? _____
