READING 2 (Items 5-10)

Read the text. Then complete the task.

Some people think it is good to keep animals in zoos, while others believe animals should live in their natural habitats. Both want to save animals but in different ways.

First, zoos can be helpful. In zoos, animals are safe from hunters and other dangers. They get food and care from zookeepers. Zoos also let people see and learn about animals that they can't travel to see in their habitats. This can help people protect and care more about animals.

However, living in a zoo is not the same as living in nature. In zoos, animals can't move around like they do in nature. This can make them sad or bored. People think it is not healthy for animals because in zoos they might not act free like they do in their natural homes. In nature, they can find their own food, make homes and live in groups.

At last, some people say zoos are good because they protect animals and teach people about them. Others say animals should live in their natural habitats to be happy and healthy. Both sides care about animals but have different ideas about the best way to help them.
