A Boat Trip

Last summer holiday, my friend Rashid and I went on a boat trip across the sea. The first few days were filled with joy and happiness. However, one day, we lost our way and couldn't find the way back.

Rashid and I were frightened. We were lost at sea with little food and water. But then, I remembered my grandfather's advice, "In tough times, stay calm and think logically."

So, we decided to stay calm and keep our energy. We used our knowledge of the sea to catch fish for food and collect rainwater for drinking. It was challenging and took a lot of effort, but we didn't lose hope.

After several days, a rescue team found us. When we returned home, we were not just friends but a team who had survived a difficult situation together.

This story taught us that in difficult times, staying calm, thinking logically, and working together can help overcome any challenge.
