Question tags

Question tags are short questions at the end of statements.

الأسئلة الذيلية هي أسئلة تأتي بنهاية الجملة

Formation

If there is an auxiliary verb in the statement, we use it to form the question tag.

A. When the statement is affirmative, we use a negative question tag.

- Ali is in the park, isn't he?
- It was raining that day, wasn't it?

B. When the statement is negative, we use a positive question tag.

- He isn't sleeping, is he?
- They weren't playing that match, were they?

If there is no auxiliary verb in the statement:

- Present simple → use don't / doesn't
Ali plays football every day, doesn't he?
They play football every day, don't they?
- Past simple → use didn't
Ali played football yesterday, didn't he?

Special cases:

- I am ... → aren't I? e.g. I am your best friend, aren't I?
- Imperative (orders) → will/can/could you? e.g. Open the door, will you? Don't forget to send the email, will you?
- Let's ... → shall we? e.g. Let's play football, shall we?
- somebody / someone / everybody / nobody / no one / anyone → use they e.g. Somebody is speaking, aren't they?
- something / everything / nothing / anything → use it e.g. Nothing will change her, won't it?
