Stative verbs

Stative verbs usually cannot be used with –ing form (continuous, progressive).

- They are usually connected with feelings, emotions, senses, thinking, opinions, belonging and permanent states.
- So these verbs are not actions! Yes, that is why they can also be called non-action.

Feelings and emotions	Senses	Thinking , perceptions & opinions	Belonging	Permanent states	Other verbs
love like dislike hate prefer want wish desire mind	see hear smell sound taste feel	forget remember understand know believe think imagine doubt guess	have belong own possess	consist contain cost	sound seem look

[&]quot;These shoes belong to Greg", not "They're belonging to Greg"

not "This music is sounding fantastic!"

NOTE

Some stative verbs can be used in progressive tenses, but with a different meaning.

• see (= meet, visit)

I'm seeing my doctor tomorrow.

• think (= consider)

I'm thinking of buying a car.

• have (= drink, eat, taste)

(with words like: lunch, breakfast, shower, barbecue)

He's having a shower at the moment.

• taste (= try food)

I'm just tasting the food to see if it's ready.

• feel (= touch)

John is feeling the packet to find out what's inside.

Thomas Edison: The Inventor of Light

- 1 Thomas Edison was a remarkable inventor who lived in the late 1800s and early 1900s. He created many amazing things that changed the way people lived. Let's take a journey through time to learn about his incredible inventions!
- In the year 1879, Thomas Edison invented something very special: the light bulb. Before his invention, people used candles and gas lamps to light their homes, which were not only dim but also dangerous. Edison's light bulb shone brightly and safely, lighting up homes and streets. This was a massive leap forward in making our world brighter.
- 3 But Edison didn't stop there! In 1877, he made the phonograph, a magical machine that could record and play back sounds. Imagine being able to listen to your favorite songs whenever you wanted. Edison's phonograph made that dream come true!
- In 1878, he worked on an electric power station. This station was like a super generator, sending electricity to houses and buildings. This invention allowed people to use Edison's light bulbs and many other electrical devices. Throughout his life, Thomas Edison created over a thousand inventions! He was always thinking of new ways to make life better and more exciting. He was a true genius, and his work continues to brighten our world today.
- 5 So, the next time you turn on a light or listen to music, remember Thomas Edison, the brilliant inventor who made it all possible. He truly was a light in the darkness and a sound in silence, making our world a better place to live.

Tennis

- 1 Tennis is a wonderful sport that has a long and fascinating history. It all began a very long time ago, in the 12th century, when people in France played a game called "jeu de paume," which means "game of the palm." They used their hands to hit a ball back and forth over a net.
- 2 But it wasn't until the 16th century that tennis started to look more like the game we know today. In England, King Henry VIII was a big fan of tennis, and he even built a tennis court at Hampton Court Palace in 1530.
- The real breakthrough for tennis happened in the 19th century. In 1859, a man named Harry Gem and his friend Augurio Perera from England created the first rules for lawn tennis. They started using rackets instead of hands and made the game more organized.
- Then, in 1873, Major Walter Clopton Wingfield created a simplified version of lawn tennis, which he called "sphairistike." This version of tennis quickly became popular, and in 1877, the All England Croquet and Lawn Tennis Club held the first Wimbledon Championships. Spencer Gore won the first men's singles title, and Maud Watson won the first ladies' singles title.
- Tennis continued to grow in popularity, and it became an Olympic sport in 1896 for men and in 1900 for women. Today, tennis is enjoyed by people all over the world, and we have many amazing tennis players like Roger Federer, Serena Williams, and Rafael Nadal who have made history in this exciting sport.
