Reading

1. What is a bad habit? The most common definition is that it is something that we do regularly, almost without thinking about it, and which has some sort of negative consequence. This consequence could affect those around us, or it could affect us personally. Those who deny having bad habits are probably lying. Bad habits are part of what makes us human.

2. Many early habits, like sucking our thumb, are broken when we are very young. We are either told to stop doing it by our parents, or we consciously or subconsciously observe that others do not have the same habit, and we gradually grow out of it. It is when we intentionally or unintentionally pick up new habits in our later childhood or early adulthood that it becomes a problem. Unless we can break that habit early on, it becomes "programmed" into our brain and a part of our life.

3. A recent study of human memory suggests that no matter how hard we try to change our habits, it is the old ways that tend to prevail, especially in situations where we are rushed, stressed or overworked. Habits that we thought we had got rid of can suddenly come back. During the study programme, the researchers showed a group of volunteers several pictures, and gave them words associate with them (for example see a picture of tea, and associate it with 'breakfast'). They then showed the volunteers the same pictures again, and gave them new words to associate with them(see a picture of tea, and say 'afternoon').

4. A few days later, the volunteers were given a test. The researchers showed them the pictures, and told them to respond with one of the words they had been given for each one. It came as no surprise that their answers were spilt between the first set of words and the second. Two weeks later, they were given the same test again. This time, most of them only gave the first set of words. They appeared to have completely forgotten the second set.

5. The study confirm that the responses we learn first are those that remain strongest over time. We may try to change our ways, but after a while, the response that comes to mind first is usually the first one we learned. The more that response is used, the more automatic it becomes and the harder it becomes to respond in any other way.

What is the text MAINLY about?

- ☐ bad habits that people are not aware of
- ☐ bad habits that are extremely hard to break

1 Ibn Sina was born in 980 on the outskirts of Bukhara in what is now Uzbekistan. He was born during the Islamic Golden Age, which lasted from the mid-7th century until the 13th century. During this time, artists and scholars from various fields made great achievements in art, literature, science, and other areas. Ibn Sina memorized the Quran by the age of ten and soon surpassed his teachers after being taught logic. At an early age, his family moved to Bukhara in 993. At about 13 years of age, he studied medicine with a number of teachers.

2 At the age of 16, he established himself as a respected physician. Besides studying medicine, he also dedicated much of his time to the study of physics, natural sciences, and metaphysics. He then educated himself on the Hellenistic philosophers, and by the time he was 16 years old, he wanted to study medicine. By his own account, he found the subject easy. When the sultan in Bukhara fell ill, Ibn Sina found a cure. Grateful, the sultan opened the royal library to him and exposed him to further fields of science, which helped Ibn Sina further advance his studies.

3 At 21 years old, Ibn Sina began writing the first of over 400 texts that bear his name. For the next 36 years, he wrote books on everything from astronomy and physics to music and poetry. Today, however, only about 240 texts survive. Ibn Sina became ill with colic in 1037. While trying to cure himself via various remedies, he was poisoned by an enslaved person, worsening his condition. While traveling to Hamadan, he died during Ramadan.

He wrote prolifically on a wide range of subjects. He is thought to have created over 400 works on various topics but only about half have made it through time. Forty of his medical texts have survived, including one of the most significant books in the history of medicine called "Canon of Medicine". It was printed in Europe at least 60 times between 1516 and 1574. The Canon remained a major authority for medical students in both the Islamic world and Europe until well into the 1700s.
