Jack is a young fisherman. He is 27 years old. He lives in a village by the sea. Early every morning goes to the fishermen's port where he keeps his old boat. He catches fish for a living. He sells whatever comes into his net in the village's fish market.

One Day, Jack went fishing. He took his boat and sailed deep into the water. The weather was cold and foggy, but Jack was happy. He was wearing heavy clothes, and he had brought some hot coffee with him because he wanted to feel warm. At midday, the wind started to blow strongly, and it rained heavily.

Jack struggled with the waves that reached 2 meters high. The boat bounced right and left, up and down. Jack was holding the sail and the ropes tight. After almost 3 hours of fighting the waves, the storm settled down and the sea was calm again.

Jack took a deep breath of relief. The danger of drowning and being eaten by fish is now over. Jack was thankful to God. A fresh new day awaits him.
