Reading Comprehension

Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow.

- (1) In many cities, people throw away large amounts of food every day, even though millions of people around the world do not have enough to eat. Food waste has become a serious global problem because it affects both people and the environment. When food is wasted, the water, energy, and time used to produce it are wasted too.
- (2) There are many reasons why food waste happens. Some families buy more food than they need and forget to use it before it goes bad. Restaurants sometimes prepare extra meals that go unsold. In supermarkets, fruits and vegetables may be thrown away simply because they do not look perfect. Although these foods are still safe to eat, they are often rejected.
- (3) Reducing food waste is possible if everyone takes simple steps. People can plan meals carefully, store food correctly, and share extra food with others. Schools can teach students the value of food and the importance of responsible habits. In my opinion, saving food not only saves money but also helps create a kinder, cleaner world.
