Read Peter's email to his friend Tom describing his problem.

Then write a reply to him

Dear Tom,

I hope you're well. I have a really big problem and I need your advice. Last month I joined the school basketball team. I was very happy about it! I have always wanted to play in a team, and my coach says that I'm really good. The problem is that I don't have time to see my friends. You see I have to practise every day after school and I have to do my homework after practice. And at the weekend I relax and play computer games. I feel so upset because my friends think that I'm avoiding them. It's not fair because I care about them and I feel so lonely without them. What should I do? Stay in the team or leave? I'm a bit confused!

Write back soon,

Peter
