MG1.1 U1 The Holy Mosque in Makkah: Getting Bigger!

The Holy Mosque in Makkah is the most sacred place for all Muslims. Millions of people travel here every year to perform Hajj and Umrah (pilgrimage). Inside the mosque is the Kaaba, the big black cube, which is the direction Muslims pray towards. Because the number of visitors keeps growing, the mosque has needed massive expansion. The Saudi Government has worked very hard to make the mosque bigger and better. This is one of the most important projects in Saudi Arabia's history. New Buildings: Workers have added many new prayer halls and outdoor areas so more people can pray at the same time. Easier Movement: New, modern things have been added, like fast escalators and moving walkways to help people walk long distances quickly. Comfort: The new areas often have powerful air conditioning to keep pilgrims cool in the hot weather. The main reason for all these big changes is to make the visit safe, comfortable, and easy for everyone who comes to Makkah. These expansions are a key part of Saudi Vision 2030. This national plan aims to welcome 30 million Umrah pilgrims annually and give them the best possible services and experience. Serving the Two Holy Mosques is the biggest priority under this Vision.

MG1.1 U2 Careers: How to Get a Good Job

A career is the work you do for many years. Many people want a good job—a job that is interesting and pays well. To get the best jobs, you need to have good qualities and skills. One important quality is being a hard worker. You must come to work on time and finish your tasks. Another good quality is being a team player. This means you can work well and speak nicely with other people, like your boss and colleagues. A key skill is problem-solving. This means when something is difficult, you can think and find a good answer or solution. The ability to learn new things is also very important, especially with new technology. The Saudi Government knows this push for high skills is important for the country's future. Saudi Vision 2030 is a big plan that aims to make the country's economy stronger and more diverse, moving away from just oil. To do this, it needs highly-skilled people, especially in technology and new, high-tech industries. The Vision is building educational programs to help young people learn these essential skills for the competitive jobs of tomorrow, ensuring a bright future for the nation.

MG1.1 U4 The Smart Home of Tomorrow

A smart home uses technology to make life easier. Today, we already have smart lights, smart locks, and speakers that can play music when we ask. But the homes of the future will be even more amazing! We can predict some usual things. For example, your refrigerator will automatically order milk when it is running low. Your heating or cooling system will know exactly when you are coming home from work and will turn on at the perfect time. This will save energy and make life very comfortable. Now, let's think about unusual predictions. Maybe your bathroom mirror will be a health doctor! It could scan your face every morning and tell you if you are starting to get sick. Maybe your walls will change color to match your mood, or your bedroom floor will become a soft, warm cloud when you step on it. These futuristic homes will be like having a helpful robot living with you. This focus on future technology and comfortable living connects with Saudi Vision 2030. The Vision is planning to build entirely new, high-tech cities, such as NEOM, which will use smart technology everywhere. This effort is focused on making life better and using technology to create new jobs and a modern lifestyle for everyone.

1. What is a smart home? _____
2. What will a smart refrigerator automatically order? _____
3. Why will the heating system turn on at the perfect time? _____

MG1.1 U4 The Art of Advertising Over Time

Advertising is how companies tell people about their products and services. The art of advertising has changed a lot over the years. Long ago, around the year 1800, the first advertisements were only in newspapers. They were just words and small drawings, like simple text messages. People read the news and saw the ads at the same time. Later, around the year 1920, the radio became very popular. This was a big change! Now, ads could use sound and music to tell stories about products. People started listening to songs that advertised things. In the 1950s, television arrived. This was the biggest change! Ads now had moving pictures and sounds. Companies could show you how to use their product, making the message much stronger. Today, in the 2000s, most ads are on the internet and social media. These ads are very fast and personal. They know what you like and show you products based on your phone or computer activity. Advertising is now faster and more complex than ever before. This push for digitalization in advertising and media is part of Saudi Vision 2030. The Vision focuses on building a digital economy and modern media sector to attract global business and investment. This is helping Saudi Arabia become a leader in modern communication and innovation.

MG1.1 U5 The Importance of Taking Precautions

Precautions are actions we take before something bad happens. They are important steps to keep us and the people around us safe and to prevent different kinds of accidents. We need precautions everywhere. At home, we can prevent accidents by not leaving water on the floor, which stops people from slipping. We should always turn off the stove after cooking to prevent fires. In the car, wearing a seatbelt is a simple but important precaution that can save lives. At work or in public places, people take precautions like wearing a safety helmet on building sites. When we use electricity, we must be careful not to touch wet wires. Taking these small steps can stop big problems. Prevention is always better than trying to fix an accident after it happens. The emphasis on safety and accident prevention is a core value in Saudi Vision 2030. The Vision is working to improve the quality of life and safety in all cities, making public places and roads much safer for everyone. This effort also includes promoting community awareness about safety precautions to reduce accidents across the Kingdom. Following these safety rules helps to create a safer environment for everybody, every day. Learning about simple safety actions is the first step in protecting yourself and others.

MG1.1 U6 The Importance of Asking for Advice

When you have a difficult choice or a big problem, it's always smart to ask for advice from people you trust, like your parents, teachers, or wise friends. Advice is a helpful opinion or suggestion someone gives you about what to do. Asking for advice is important because it gives you new ideas and helps you see the problem from different angles. It stops you from making fast, bad decisions by yourself. Good advice can show you the best and safest path to take. In Islam, asking for advice is called Shura. The Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) often asked for advice from his companions before making important decisions. The Quran and Sunnah teach us to consult with others. This shows that even the wisest people need to listen to the opinions of others. When you ask for Shura, you are following a great teaching and ensuring your decision is well-considered. This idea of asking for advice helps the country make progress. This progress is a main goal of Saudi Vision 2030. The Vision encourages good planning and using expert knowledge to make smart, national decisions about the economy and future projects. It highlights the importance of teamwork and seeking expert opinions for the success of the Kingdom.
