Can Weather Affect People's Moods?

Do you think it will rain tomorrow? Will it be cool or warm? People often ask about the weather because they want to wear appropriate clothing. But the weather can mean more to people than just changes in clothing. According to new research, warm, sunny weather can have a positive impact on mental health and mood. On the other hand, cold, dark winter weather can have a negative effect, even causing Seasonal Affective Disorder (SAD), a depression that comes back every winter. Read people's answers to a survey about how the weather affects their moods.

I can't really tell if the weather affects people's moods. In my country, it's always hot. In the winter, the temperature is about 84 degrees Fahrenheit (29 degrees Celsius). We usually have bright, sunny skies, and the people here are normally very happy even during thunderstorms. Maybe one day I'll get to see the snow and see if the cold weather will change my mood. Ibrahim – Jeddah, Saudi Arabia

I live on an island that has about two hundred beaches. So the weather affects the way I feel and our way of life very much. I'm in a lively mood the whole year round. People think that my country is tropical, but in the south we sometimes get some really cold, windy days, and I feel down. However, they don't last very long. When that happens, I just try to tell myself not to worry because tomorrow or the day after will be beautiful and sunny again. Felipe – Florianopolis, Brazil

The weather definitely affects the way I feel. When it's rainy and dreary out, I feel tired and depressed, and I don't want to do anything outdoors. So I try not to look out of the window, and I spend my time like a typical couch potato, watching TV and eating, or playing video games. My body and my brain seem to function better when it's sunny. I'm more energetic, and I feel like exercising more frequently. The trouble is that it rains on about one day out of three in England. Keith – Liverpool, England

G READING

Read the story.

Omar is living in a dorm at college this year. He really likes his classes, but he doesn't like living in the dorm. It's noisier in the dorm than it was at home. It's harder for him to study in the dorm, too. He likes his roommate, Fred. They hang out together a lot, and they both like to run in the morning. Omar and Fred are now good friends. But Fred never helps clean the room. He leaves his clothes and books all around. Their room is always messy. Omar eats in the college cafeteria, and he doesn't like the food there. There aren't any cooking facilities in the dorm. Omar's uncle's family lives near the college. They invited Omar to live with them next year.

Page 244

Answer the questions. Give your opinions.

1. Where will Omar live next year?

He'll probably live with his uncle's family.

2. Will he eat in the college cafeteria next year?

No, he won't.

3. Will his room be clean or dirty next year?

His room will probably be clean.

4. Will his room be noisy or quiet next year?

His room will probably be quiet.

The end

Teaching Tip

Always give a student sufficient time to answer a question. A student might need time to come up with a correct response but will feel better if allowed to respond without help.

Additional Activity

Have students work in groups and predict their lives in ten years. Have them talk about the distant future (I'll be married, and I'll have two children) and the near future (I'll go to college).

Project: Weather Forecasting

Have students research the instruments weather forecasters use to predict the weather. You could assign individuals or pairs to research something particular, for example, weather satellites or weather balloons; or you can let students choose on their own.

facts

Seasonal Affective Disorder (or winter depression) is common in many northern locations. If you live in high latitudes, far away from the equator, or have someone in your family with this disorder, you may be more likely to experience it.
