3. What verb form do we use after mind? (verb + -ing)

he is not going to answer the questions? (He is going to answer them.)

* yes and no are not appropriate responses to a polite request with Do you mind...

For example: Do you mind lending me your pen?

Do you mind holding my bag for me?

Look at the following (phrases)

let me share your book; lend me your eraser; help me with the homework.

* Who says Not really? (Faisal)

* What does he mean? (no)

* Why doesn't he say no? (He wants to be polite.)

* Practice using Not really, For example: Do you like doing homework?

Do you always understand everything in class?

a Ask students to find the word stuff in the conversation.

😊 Other words or phrases that Faisal could use in place of stuff.

Teaching Tip

Some activities involve several steps that require students to change partners. When you first divide students into pairs, identify the students as A and B, or A, B, C, and D, depending on how many groups you need in the second step. After students finish the first step, separate students into new groups by saying Now all the As get into one group and all the Bs get into another group. Or, say (while pointing): All the As work over here, Bs over here, Cs over there, and Ds over there.
