The end

Culture Note

Most cars in the United States have automatic transmissions rather than manual transmissions. When people ask Do you drive a stick? they want to know if you can drive a car with a manual transmission.

Language Builder

Seat belt and road sign are examples of compound nouns. Compound nouns usually consist of noun + noun (wind + shield), but they can also consist of adjective + noun (steering + wheel) or verb + noun (drive + way). They can be written as one word (headlight) or two words (signal light). The stress is usually on the first word in the compound noun (PARKING lot, not parking LOT).

Teaching Tip

It is important that students not become “territorial,” meaning they always want to sit in the same seats and talk to the same people. This does not create a friendly class atmosphere and students may have little to say if they always talk to the same people and get to know each other too well. To prevent this from happening, be sure to change the organization of pairs and groups from class period to class period, or even from activity to activity.

Additional Activity

Have students work in pairs to make a list of what safe and unsafe drivers do. For example: Safe drivers wear seat belts. Unsafe drivers drive faster than the speed limit. Have several pairs read their lists aloud.

- The most popular color car in the world changes every few years, but most recently it is white. Black is the second most popular color, followed by silver and gray.
- Manual transmission cars are popular in Europe and Latin America, but automatic transmissions are preferred in North America, Australia, and Asia.
