Teaching Tip

When you ask a student to help model an exercise, it's a good idea to choose one of the more able students. The model will be clearer and it avoids embarrassing a student who is not able to model the activity correctly.

Additional Activity

Say several third person singular verbs at random. Mix words that have one syllable and two syllables. Students raise one finger if they hear a word with one syllable, and two fingers for words with two syllables.

In most U.S. states attending school is compulsory to age 17. But, it is also possible for parents to homeschool their children, or teach them at home. In 2011, over 2 million children were homeschooled in the U.S., which accounted for about 3.8 percent of the school-age population.

Language Builder

Point out the use of the articles a/an in most phrases with singular nouns. For example: History is an interesting subject. Tell students that they do not use a/an with the word hair when it refers to the hair on one's head. For example: He has red hair (NOT a red hair).

Explain that color words come after other words such as short, big, new, etc. For example: She has short red hair. He has big blue eyes. He's wearing a new black coat.
