POCKET BOOKS

Farmer Brown has a problem.
His cows like to type.
All day long he hears

At first, he couldn't believe his ears.
Cows that type?
Impossible!

Then, he couldn't believe his eyes.

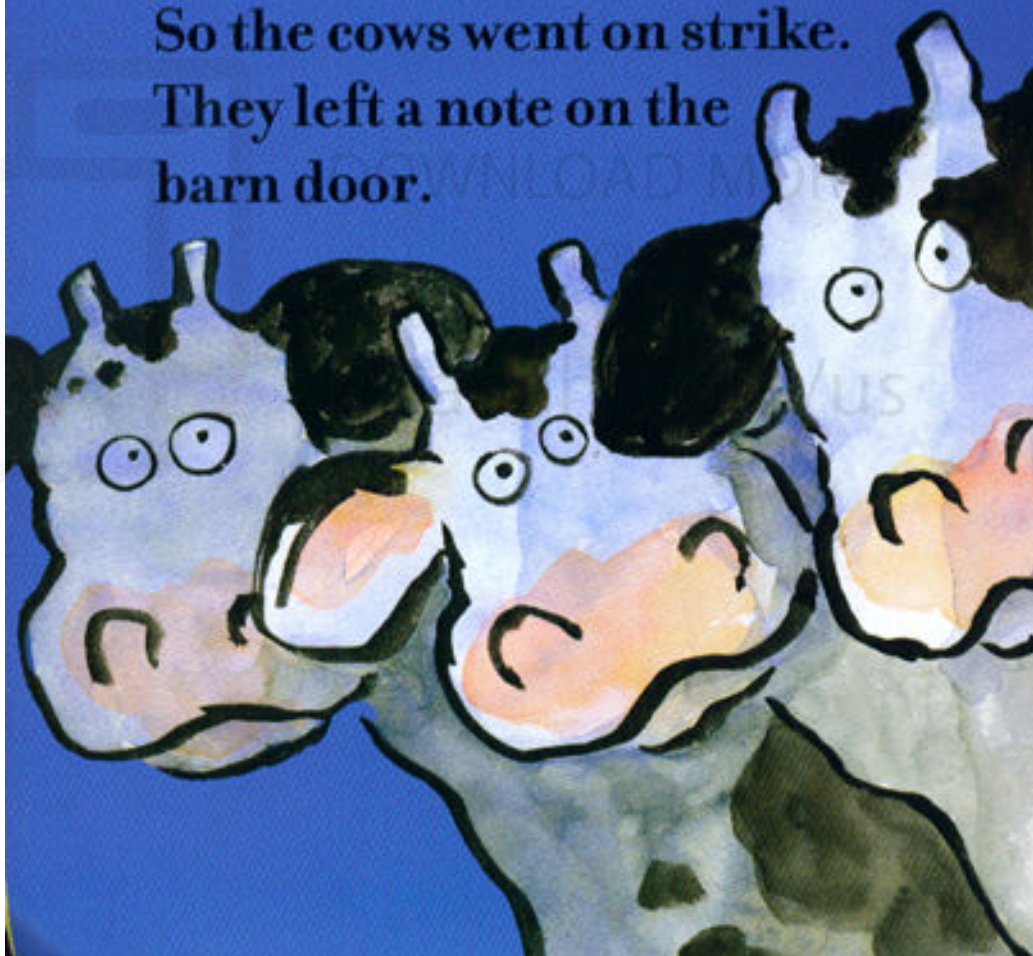

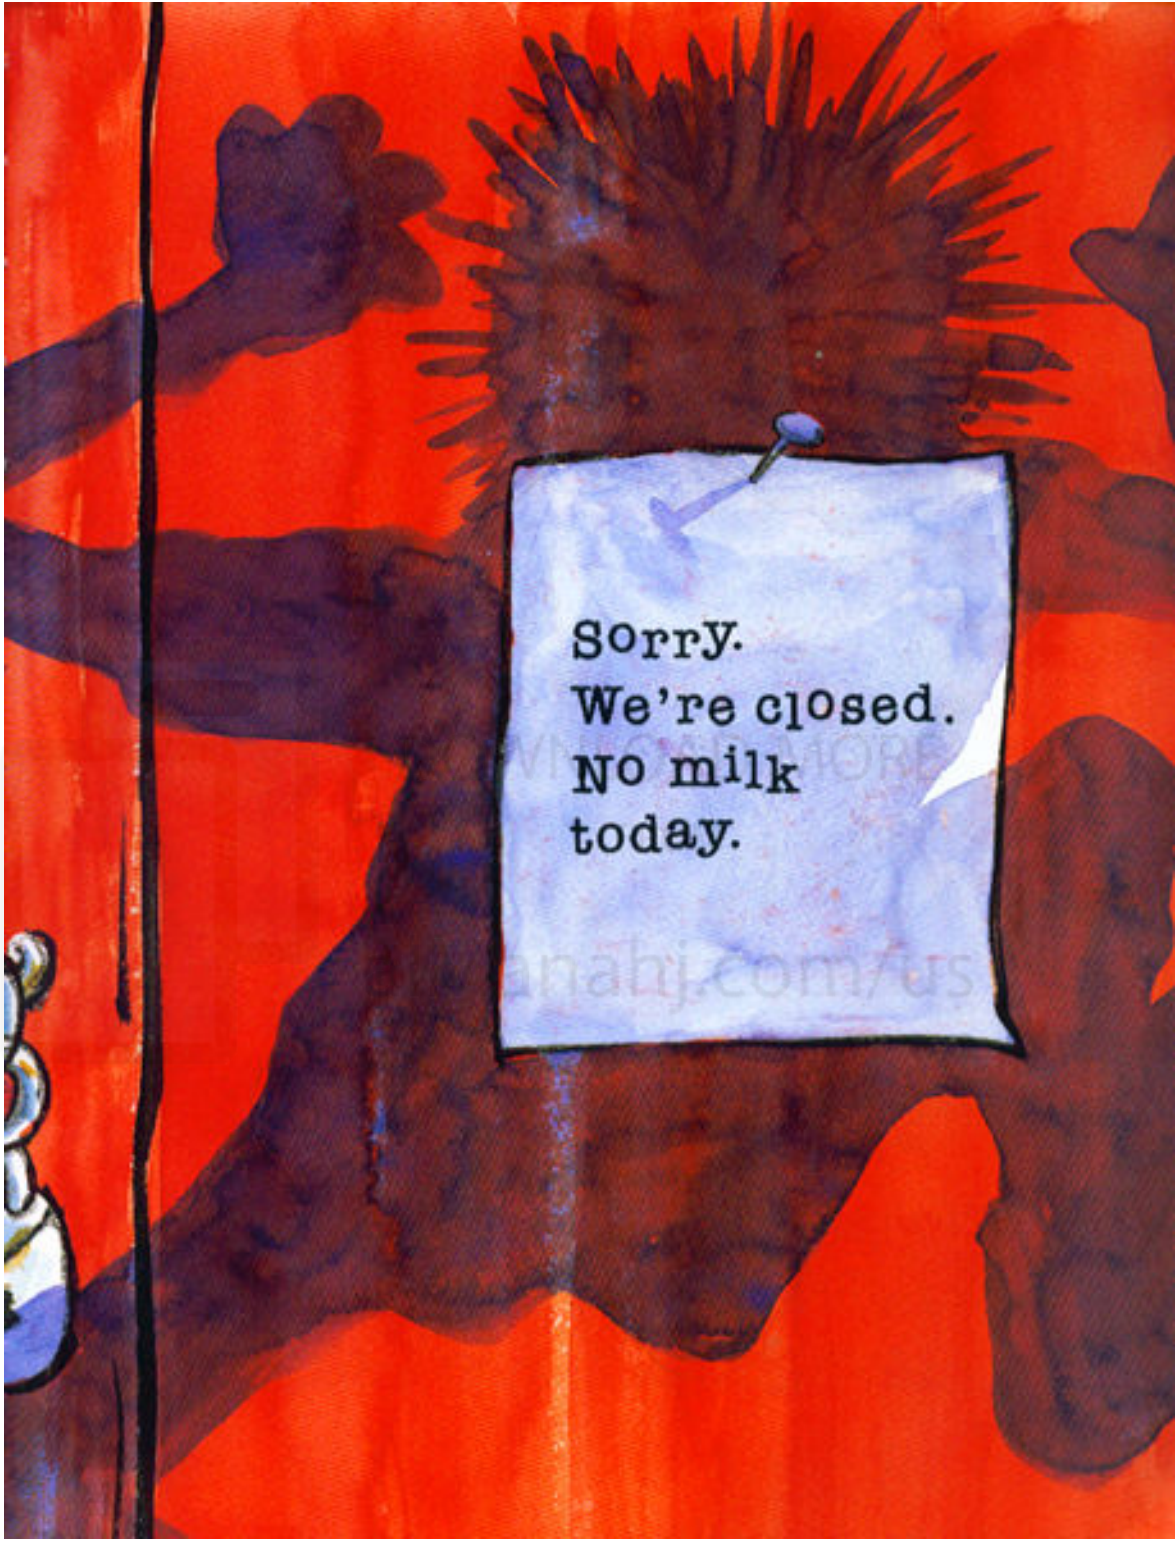

A hand is shown holding a white rectangular note pinned to a red wall. The note contains a letter from cows to Farmer Brown. The background is a textured red wall. A silver pushpin is pinned to the top of the note. The text on the note is in a typewriter font. There is a faint watermark 'Download More' and a URL 'http://www.mahj.com/us' overlaid on the note.

Dear Farmer Brown,
The barn is very cold
at night.
We'd like some electric
blankets.
Sincerely,
The Cows

It was bad enough the cows had found the old typewriter in the barn, but now they wanted electric blankets! "No way," said Farmer Brown. "No electric blankets."

So the cows went on strike. They left a note on the barn door.

Sorry.
We're closed.
No milk
today.

“No milk today!” cried Farmer Brown. In the background, he heard the cows busy at work:

The next day, he got another note:

Dear Farmer Brown,
The hens are cold too.
They'd like electric
blankets.
Sincerely,
The Cows

The cows were growing impatient with the farmer. They left a new note on the barn door.

"No eggs!" cried Farmer Brown.
In the background he heard them.

“Cows that type. Hens on strike!
Whoever heard of such a thing?
How can I run a farm with no milk and no eggs!” Farmer Brown was furious.

Farmer Brown got out his own typewriter.

Dear Cows and Hens:

There will be no electric blankets.

You are cows and hens.

I demand milk and eggs.

Sincerely,

Farmer Brown

Duck was a neutral party, so he brought the ultimatum to the cows.

The cows held an emergency meeting. All the animals gathered around the barn to snoop, but none of them could understand Moo.

All night long, Farmer Brown waited for an answer.

Duck knocked on the door early the next morning. He handed Farmer Brown a note:

Dear Farmer Brown,
We will exchange our typewriter
for electric blankets.
Leave them outside the barn door
and we will send Duck over with the typewriter.
Sincerely,
The Cows

Farmer Brown decided this was a good deal. He left the blankets next to the barn door and waited for Duck to come with the typewriter.

The next morning he got a note:

Dear Farmer Brown,
The pond is quite boring.
We'd like a diving board.
Sincerely,
The Ducks
