A natural disaster

Good evening, this is Gemma Walker for the six o'clock news. I'm in San Miguel. That's the volcano behind me. It's very bad here. There isn't any gas or electricity and there isn't any clean water. There were 500 people in the hospital this morning, and there wasn't any medicine there. There are some helicopters from the United States at the airport, and there is some food and there are some antibiotics on the helicopters. Our next report from San Miguel is at nine o'clock. There will be good news.
